

Thanks are due Mr. Donald C. YARWOOD for a great deal of this issue, since he loaned me a copy of a family tree for his branch of Yarwood's - from which information was extracted for the typed version attached.

Mis Mary Delight CRAIGMILE also furnished quite a little information which has been included in the tree, or added at the end.

Mrs. Florence (Yarwood) HARDING also found some information which was added at the end of the same tree.

Quite a few years ago - in the '30's - Rev. Alva Ragsdale, who was our pastor at the time, told me that he had known some people in Carolina who spelled the name the same, but pronounced it more Yāre-ūd rather than the Yār-wood that I have always heard. Perhaps they are descended from Benjamin YARWOOD who is listed in the American Genealogical Index, Vol. 48, as being in North Carolina in the 1750's.

I recently met George J. YARWOOD and his wife, Mary. He is a cousin of Thomas YARWOOD mentioned in the first issue, and gave me some information about their branch. He has written to his brother and aunt, and hopes for more.

Their great-grandfather, George J. YARWOOD, was an organist at the English court and his wife, Jenny, was a ballet dancer. Their son, Walter, came over to Philadelphia, and after George died, Jenny came to live with him.

Walter went to England on a visit and did some research on the family. He said that we were all descended from a single progenitor. George J. thinks that his aunt in Willow Grove, Pennsylvania has Walter's papers - she is the one he wrote to.

George J. YARWOOD mentioned an uncle (I think the name was Joseph, but can't swear) who went to Alaska and later to the states of Washington and Oregon. Another uncle (I recall his name as Albert) was in the Navy for some years. His son of the same name died in the Virgin Islands.

I wrote to Bruce YARWOOD, and his mother, Mrs. Kathryn M. YARWOOD answered. Her husband, Paul died in 1965.

This branch migrated from Canada to Rome, N.Y., probably in the early 1800's

Walter A. YARWOOD married Comfort DAVIS and moved to Calif. in the latter 1890's. He died about 1938 at about 61 - he had diabetes. He had a sister, Edith (Yarwood) HINES who lived in Corona, California and is also deceased.

Walter and Comfort had 2 sons.

Claude E. YARWOOD, b. 8 Jan. 1900, married twice, no children. At present hospitalized by a stroke. He is also diabetic.

Paul (n) YARWOOD, b. 16 March 1910, d. 24 Feb. 1965
of cancer. He also had diabetes. m. Kathryn KEIFER, three children:

Bruce A. YARWOOD, b. 6 July 1942. Two children
Julie, age 5 and Matthew, age 2

Keith E. YARWOOD, b. 5 Nov. 1946 - not married

Page A. YARWOOD, b. 18 Oct. 1952. A junior at U.C. Berkeley, studying optometry.

In the New England Historical Genealogical Register, volumes
39 & 40, I find that Richard Yearwood was the step-father of John HARVARD for whom Harvard College was named. John's mother, in her will, spelled the name YARWOOD, and in other wills it was spelled YERWOOD, and YARWOODE as well as YEARWOOD. Richard YEARWOOD left a son Richard. This was in 1635.

In answer to a letter I sent to Sheldon YARWOOD, I received a letter from Mr. P. A. LEWIS, age 82, a cousin.

Their family started with John YARWOOD, who came from England to Wisconsin. His wife was also from England, and they were married in Wisconsin. They had 1 daughter (the eldest, and Mr. LEWIS's grandmother) and 6 sons.

Mr. LEWIS is the oldest of six living grandchildren.

I do not know who many would be interested in corresponding with other YARWOOD's. If any do, I would be willing to make a listing of their names and addresses.

One more thing. I do not claim to be an author, and am not sure how well you like my attempts. If any of you would like to write a (or some) short article about your branch of the YARWOOD's or any one of them, or anything else that you feel would be of interest, I hope to be able to send these blurbs out every-so-often, and would be glad to include such an article. If they are typed on standard paper, so much the better.

So much for this time.

"Have A Good Day!"

ADDENDA:

After I had the letter typed, I received one from Miss CRAIGMILE with quite a little additional information about the YARWOOD family tree, so it has been retyped. (I type pretty slowly.) Also, some additional information here:

Some or all of you have received the advertisement from "HALBERT's" regarding a YARWOOD coat-of-arms.

The "General Armory", issued 1884, does not list any YARWOOD at all - nor YERWOOD, YEARWOOD OR YARWOODE. There is supposed to be a new supplement coming out, but I haven't seen it yet.

The coat-of-arms furnished is that of Sir Robert HERWOOD of county Cambridge, of the time of Edward I.

The General Armory under Harwood also lists Herwood, Horwoode and Whorwood - of Saxon origin, seated at a very remote period in counties Lincoln and Cambridge. It lists 11 coats-of-arms for Harwood (including Robert Herwood, above.); another Herwood; 3 for Horwood; and 4 for Whorwood.

The "Dictionary of American Family Names" gives Harewood as another spelling for Harwood.

The "Dictionary of British Surnames" gives only Horwood, but gives as early examples "Osbert de Horwude, 1214" and "William del Horewode, 1332."

The way spellings and names changed over the years - not really settling down until very recently - it is possible that "Yarwood" did develop from "Harwood", but is not definite.

A coat-of-arms is normally granted to an individual, and in English practice, devolves upon his direct male descendants. If YARWOOD's are descended from a single man by that name as Walter YARWOOD believed, and if he was descended from Robert HERWOOD, above, then, and only then, would we all be entitled to the coat-of-arms indicated.

New item. "Kelly's Handbook to the Titled, Landed and Official Classes" 1970, lists Dame Elizabeth Ann YARWOOD, Dame of the British Empire, 1969, m. 1918 Vernon YARWOOD, son of John YARWOOD of Manchester.

Also: in the book "The Original Lists ---(persons coming to America) ---1600 - 1700" 2nd ed. 1880, reprinted 1962, p. 418:

"Emigrants from Barbbadoes to New England --- Carolina ---"
"November ye 4th 1679:

"YARWOOD, Thomas, in the Barqe ENDEAVOR for Carolina, Thomas Shaw comandr."

A letter from my Aunt Lucy Janette (YARWOOD) SUBRA states that the Thomas YARWOOD who was listed in the 1870 census as living with George YARWOOD was his brother, but she does not know what happened to him.

A YARWOOD FAMILY TREE

Mr. Donald C. YARWOOD loaned me a copy of a family tree which was a copy of one his grandfather, William S. YARWOOD, had obtained or made. The information which follows includes that from this tree, plus considerable information about the CRAIGMILE branches - female line from YARWOOD - as received from Miss Mary Delight CRAIGMILE. Also a little about her researches into the YARWOOD's, especially in Oneida County, New York. Mrs. J. P. HARDING (Florence YARWOOD) also found a little information in census records which has been added.

The numbering system is not the same as that used in the tree from which I started. I have seen several used, and do not know which is supposed to be preferred.

- (1) James YARWOOD, b. 5/21/1767 in England, d. 11/21/1811 at Oriskany, New York. Married (when ?) Mary ROBINSON, b. 4/18/1777 in England, d. 9/26/1820 at Oriskany. Both are buried at Western, Oneida Co., New York. Mary is supposed to be descended from John ROBINSON, who was the pastor of the Pilgrims while they were in Leyden, Holland. He did not come to America. (Miss CRAIGMILE gives James' name as "Samuel" and states that Samuel & Mary's stones were standing in 1955.)

According to the land records of Oneida Co., New York, there was a James YARWOOD and a Samuel YARWOOD, both of Clinton, Dutchess Co., N.Y. who had deeds recorded in 1804. They were again recorded in 1807, James with wife Sarah, and Samuel with wife Mary. I wonder if they were brothers, father & son, or what?

He was a sub-contractor on the Michigan-Illinois Canal about 1838, and owned land in Cook Co., Ill. in 1848. He was a very heavy man weighing over 300 lb. Miss CRAIGMILE has a picture of John & Mary. He died in Iowa and is buried at the Xenia Cemetery, south of Eldora, Hardin Co., Iowa.

Additional information about YARWOOD's received from Miss Mary Delight CRAIGMILE:

In 1842, there is a record of a Samuel & Jane YARWOOD from Canada having land in Oneida Co., New York.

In 1853, James C. YARWOOD of Rome, New York is in the land records of Oneida Co., N.Y., also in 1882, Richard J. Yarwood of Rome, N.Y. is listed. There is also a Winthrop YARWOOD at about the same time.

These YARWOOD's may have a connection with the YARWOOD's of Sacramento, California mentioned on the first page of the letter.

On the tree from which I copied much of the above info, James YARWOOD is given #10, with all the others coming after.
I wonder who might have another portion giving earlier numbers.
