ADDENDUM FOR DESCENDANTS OF GEORGE & MARIA YARWOOD _ ONLY!!

Cousin Jessie (YARWOOD) HERMAN sent the following stories which she had heard. She does not swear that they are correct in all respects, but feels that they are interesting. I agree. If anyone else has similar stories, I think that it would add to the interest - especially for the younger members of the family, and make them appear more "human".

I am quoting from Jessie's letter:

"There is another story my folks used to tell. When the three (George YARWOOD, Harry WHEATMAN, and Ed or Jack VINE (or both)), got off the boat in New York City they had 25 cents left, so they went to a tavern and bought a pitcher of beer." She adds (I suppose free food in those days.) From my own experience, I got a nickle beer in Queens, NYC, in 1941 and got a pretty good lunch off the free-lunch table.

"Grandma YARWOOD (Maria) had pretty dark red hair. I wonder how many have red hair?" She said that three of Nancy's daughters have very pretty red hair.

In another letter she reported:

"This is a story you can't publish but I think is true. (She didn't object when I suggested giving it just to our family.)

"Maria had told my mother her mother was dead and her dad got people to keep his kids and he went to California to look for gold. George Yarwood knew her family and her. She didn't like the place she was staying and was on road running away. George was hauling wheat to town and came upon her. He listened to her story and told her to get in the wagon and they would go to town and get married. My dad was old enough to remember they saw a man way off walking and his dad told him to go and tell his mother her dad was coming. He came from California then broke."

In connection with the picture of Charles F. YARWOOD and Walter LEE, "Walter was a brother of Maria, he lived in Decorah and worked at Phelps cemetery. He lived to be real old. Must have died in the 30's some time. He had children, but as long as I (Jessie) remember, his wife was dead and children grown up and not in Decorah. He grew Peony flowers from seed for a hobby, had his lot full of them."

Jessie believed that Harry WHEATMAN WAS a cousin of George W. YARWOOD, and Dean had heard that George was related to either Harry or the Vines; however, Dorothy talked to one of the Wheatman's who is older than she is, and was told that there was not any relationship, just that they were friends back in England.

Jessie mentioned that Hazel (SKINNER) YARWOOD was related to the VINE's some way. She didn't know just how.

Following are all of the addresses I have for the family. I cannot swear that I have copied them all correctly.
